

The flight to Vardick

The coach pulled up at Cordonblock airport at a notice saying

DRIVING WHEEL EMPOUNDMENT AREA

at which underneath was posted

POLITE NOTICE

STRICTLY NO PARKING

OTHERWISE FUCK OFF

The driver cheerily unloaded the lower part of the coach of its luggage.

The entrance contained a shopping mall at either side of the gateway to the airport train to terminal 5.

There was a notice.

‘You are in Disaster Zone 5. All disasters are activated and controlled from Disaster Zone 5.

The Disaster Control Room is situated in the middle orb of the high ceiling of the Consternation Lounge. The areas surrounding its parachute ramps should be strictly avoided in an emergency.

A warning sound of three tinkling bells followed by along blast of a trombone with tuba accompaniment and horse hooves will announce any imminent disaster’.

The flight film to Vardick was announced, ‘ Carry On Up The Khyber’.
