

The Unmentionable

The Unmentionable idea is easy to state. There are two types of function, Love (or Truth), which is symmetric and Hate (or Falsity) which is antisymmetric.

The Universe is an Ultimate Progression beyond transinfinity of transition from Reality and Truth to Contradiction Physics and Falsity. This oscillates like a wave. The zero points or tribbles of these transformations are the Nirvanas of nothingness, from which somethingness, either Reality or Unreality emerges as a New Physics.

This progression is a Wonderful or Horrible Oneness.

This Oneness is the Unmentionable in which we are now in transition from a Physics of Reality to a Physics of Unreality. The transition is increasingly insane as it self-contradicts.

It is surrounded by Adonai, or the Ultimate Itself, which is never generated and is of two kinds, Ultimate Love and Ultimate Hate.

I assert I am in Reality and stand for Love.

I am a proponent of Ultimate Love, but I accept there are proponents of Ultimate Hate. When we realise these are aspects of the Same Idea, then will Oneness in all forms become Ultimate Itself.